Approved Permanent Impairment Assessor: Specialist Medical Practitioners

WorkCover WA

WorkCover WA is the government agency responsible for overseeing the workers compensation and injury management system in Western Australia.

Part of the agency's role is to monitor compliance with the Workers Compensation and Injury Management Act 2023 (the Act), approve and regulate certain individuals to perform functions in the scheme, inform and educate workers, employers and others about workers compensation and injury management, and provide an independent dispute resolution system.

Approved Permanent Impairment Assessor

Only medical practitioners who are trained in the use of the 'WorkCover WA Guidelines for the Evaluation of Permanent Impairment' (WorkCover WA Guidelines) and meet WorkCover WA's eligibility criteria can be designated as an Approved Permanent Impairment Assessor (APIA).

An APIA plays an important role in the Western Australian workers compensation scheme. APIA assess an injured worker's degree of permanent impairment in accordance with the WorkCover WA Guidelines, to determine a worker's eligibility to access certain workers compensation entitlements.

How to become an Approved Permanent Impairment Assessor – application process

1. Before undertaking training in the WorkCover WA Guidelines, applicants must have:
 - completed training in the American Medical Association Guides to the Evaluation of Permanent Impairment (AMA5); or
 - current accreditation as a “Certified Independent Medical Examiner” with the American Board of Independent Medical Examiners (ABIME)

WorkCover WA does not provide training in AMA5 or assistance with ABIME accreditation.

WorkCover WA recognises satisfactory completion of equivalent AMA5 training conducted by workers compensation jurisdictions in New South Wales, Queensland and South Australia.

It is the applicant's responsibility to ensure AMA5 training meets specific requirements. Please contact WorkCover WA prior to undertaking training based in other Australian jurisdictions to confirm it meets the required standard.

2. After completing training in AMA5 or obtaining ABIME accreditation, medical practitioners are required to complete training in the WorkCover WA Guidelines. This training is held at WorkCover WA when there is sufficient demand, usually from 5:30pm to 9pm on a weekday evening.

3. At the conclusion of the WorkCover WA Guidelines training, participants will receive correspondence confirming completion of the training.
4. After completing the pre-requisite training requirements, medical practitioners must submit the applicable completed 'Application for approval as an Approved Permanent Impairment Assessor' (APIA application form) together with the required supporting evidence to WorkCover WA. (Please note: WorkCover WA cannot progress your application if all supporting documentation is not received with the APIA application form).

The completed APIA application form and any required supporting evidence should be forwarded to:

Or via email to regulation@workcover.wa.gov.au

WorkCover WA will only consider applicants who have completed the pre-requisite training requirements and meet the eligibility criteria. WorkCover WA may request further information when considering your application.

5. When completed applications are forwarded to WorkCover WA, the application is reviewed to ensure the eligibility criteria for designation as an APIA has been met.
6. Once approved by WorkCover WA, applicants then become an APIA and are then authorised to conduct permanent impairment assessments of injured workers. This approval remains in force for an initial three-year fixed period, after which time a decision to convert the fixed term period to indefinite approval will be made.
7. All applicants will be advised in writing of the outcome of their APIA application.
8. A register of current APIA is published on the WorkCover WA website for public viewing.
